A good many congressmen will eat their Christmas turkey in Washington this year. There won't be a two week's vacation after such an election as last fall.

Henry James Sr. who has just died in Boston, was father of Henry James Jr. the brilliant novelist, and of Robertson James, of Milwaukee, son-in-law of the Hon. E. D. Holton.

One of the most remarkably progressive institutions in the west is the Pullman palace car company, at Chicago. It first started out to build a few palace cars, but in a short time it began to grow amazingly, and now it has an order for 4000 freight cars, and the works make a little city of themselves.

The Milwaukee Republican-Sentinel states that beer will be advanced to one dollar a barrel. It will retail for a nickle a glass all the same, but that paper suggests that saloon keepers may still add an inch or two more to the thickness of the bottoms of their glasses. Then the consumer may begin to complain that the three inches of foam at the top, and the two inches of solid glass at the bottom are in too close proximity.

The Chicago Journal says, "since the Northwestern has absorbed the Omaha line, it becomes the greatest railroad corporation in the world, controlling 4,736.33 miles of road, or 333.33 miles more than its great rival, the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway." Just wait. If there is any other line that can be leased, bought or built, the coming season, the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul will have it, and thus outdo the Northwestern.

The moral standing of the Georgia legislature cannot be compared with that of Texas. Last winter the legislature of the latter state took strong grounds against selling obscene literature, and the the blood and thunder novels which flood the country. This was a good thing for Texas to do and it covered a multitude of sins. But the Georgia legislature in the new tax law has given news agents the right to sell all the disreputable illustrated papers which abound the country, and contribute so much to the demoralization of young men. It may be hard to prohibit the sale of these notoriously bad books and papers, but a positive law forbidding their sale, with a heavy penalty for a violation of the law, would do much to lessen their circulation.

There are some democrats who take exceptions to the position of Governor Rusk and Secretary Timme regarding a brief session of the legislature this winter. They seem to think that these officials take this view of the matter simply because the democrats have the assembly and on them will largely rest the responsibility of whatever results from the coming session. On the other hand there are democrats who claim that the session cannot necessarily be a short one for the reason that it will be the first session under the biennial system, and consequently, it is alleged there will be an increase of business. So here we have a clashing of views on the subject. It is not plain to be seen why the coming session should be a long one on account of the biennial system. No more legislation will be required than formerly; and the causes that led to the long session of last winter have disappeared. But whatever view the leaders of either party may take of the subject, the legislature should do its work well, and in as short a time as will be consistent with necessary, wholesome, and thorough legislation. Any attempt to make it short for political capital, or to make it long for the benefit of the democrats who have the controlling power in the assembly, will be destructive of the best interests of the state.

The annual report of the railway commissioner of this state, is now going through the press. Like the volumes which have preceded it, it contains a great deal of valuable information regarding the lines of railway operated in Wisconsin. During the year ending June 30, 1882, the passenger earnings in Wisconsin were $1,597,500, and freight earnings $13,062,000. The total earnings, which includes a little over one million from mails, and express companies, reaches $18,765,000. The operating expenses in Wisconsin were $10,276,000, which makes the net earnings over $8,000,000. The equipments of the two leading companies for 1882, are as follows:

St. Paul—583 locomotives, 228 passenger cars, 164 mail, baggage and express cars, 39 parlor or sleeping cars, 17,600 freight cars, 354 other cars.

Northwestern—557 locomotives, 235 passenger cars, 117 baggage, mail and express cars, 17 parlor or sleeping cars, 18,281 freight cars, 4 dining cars, and 4 officers' cars.

The St. Paul reports 58 persons killed and 274 injured, in Wisconsin; the Northwestern, 31 killed and 39 injured in this state; the Omaha, 11 killed and 32 injured; the Central, 6 killed and 13 injured; the Lake Shore & Western, 3 killed and 13 injured.

There seems to be a sort of fellow feeling between democratic governors and convicts in penitentiaries; at least it is quite noticeable that democratic governors do a good deal of indiscriminate pardoning. We have illustrations of this in Missouri, Kentucky, Arkansas, and in Indiana while Governor Williams was in the executive chair. And now come Governor Stephens, of Georgia, a man for whom none can entertain but the most profound respect and even admiration, for his philanthropy, broad statesmanship, and his long and heroic struggle with disease. Even this man with all his magnificent traits, puts his signature to an official document that makes Edward Cox the murderer, a free man! Cox committed one of the blackest murders ever known in the south—not a political murder, but the murder of a friend. This was done in 1879, and our readers will doubtless remember the long account of the affairs published in the Gazette at the time. Alston was the name of the man murdered, and lived at Atlanta. Cox had some grudge against him, and meeting him in the office of the state treasurer one day, shot him dead. Instead of being hanged, he was sentenced to the penitentiary for life. Governor Stephens now grants him an unconditional pardon. This is an unblushing outrage, and one of the worst insults justice and the dead have received for a long time.

GREASED RUIN.

The City Bank of Rochester, N. Y., Compelled to Close Its Doors.

The Funds Used by Its Truly Good President in Heavy Oil Speculations.

Something Like $330,000 Missing, and the Returns Not All in Yet.

Great Indignation of the Losers by the Failure.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Dec. 21.—The City bank, rated as the third strongest in Rochester, closed its doors yesterday morning. The deficiency is said to approximate $500,000. Great excitement prevails throughout the city because of the interest of poor people in the suspended institution. No investigation has taken place as to the cause of the failure, but it is freely claimed that Charles E. Upton, president of the bank, has lost heavily in oil and stock speculations.

Investigation shows that Upton used $350,000 of the bank's money with which to carry on his oil speculations. The bank held $500,000 of deposits and $800,000 in paper. Upton was treasurer of the Western New York Episcopal diocese, and had its funds in his bank. The small savings banks of the city had large deposits with Upton. All over the city the excitement is intense and increasing.

J. B. Perkins, attorney of the bank and one of the directors, makes the following statement: "A month ago I considered the bank sound. The cause of the failure was speculation with the funds of the bank by President C. E. Upton, in oil lately, who has speculated to the amount of hundreds of thousands of barrels—200,000 barrels, he said, for himself, and a great deal more for other parties not connected with the bank. Two or three weeks ago there was a heavy fall in prices. He took money from the bank to carry this. Immediately after that the directors were informed that the checks of the City bank had been thrown out by the American Exchange bank, of New York. We commenced investigating, and found everything in confusion. We wished Upton to make a statement, and he finally said he owed about $220,000 and had property of the value of about $15,000, which he agreed to secure to the bank. His statement was indefinite as to the amount of the debt, and there was apparent equivocation. L. P. Ross and myself went to New York and saw the officers of the American Exchange bank. They gave us such information as they could, and advised us to try and carry Upton through and get in what money we could. We came back and got in what money we could. We tried to furnish ourselves with ready money Sunday. At a meeting of the directors Mr. Upton agreed to execute various conveyances on Monday at 10 o'clock, but did not do it. Tuesday morning the directors agreed to subscribe $100,000 to go on with the business, and let Mr. Upton step out, we thinking that amount would strengthen or keep the bank good. We met again at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, and it was then stated in the board that Mr. Upton's liabilities to the bank in his own name and those of the other parties represented $335,000. Upton then executed a mortgage on some property, which perhaps may aggregate in value between $50,000 and $100,000. We understand from the statement made us that the deposits amount in round numbers to $100,000, and that the bank holds about $800,000 of paper, which, outside of Upton's account we considered would have been collectible at face value if the bank had not been compelled to close its doors."

Another of the directors of the bank is H. C. Roberts. He was at the Continental hotel yesterday afternoon. He said that the failure was altogether unexpected. He could conceive of no cause for it, excepting there might have been a run on the institution. President Upton had bought 600,000 barrels of oil at 89 cent which he might have sold at $1.11, giving him a profit of about $180,000, but he chose to hold on for $1.20 per barrel, while the latest quotations are about 84 cents. This, Mr. Roberts said, would still make President Upton's margin good; but he thought the depositors, knowing the extent of President Upton's operations and the decline which has taken place in the oil market, became alarmed and made the run on the bank. From other sources it is learned that Mr. Upton had a large quantity "put" on him at $1.30. Mr. Roberts, however, says that he is positive that Mr. Upton did not have accommodations from his own bank to a larger sum than $25,000 or $30,000. The City bank has a capital of $200,000, and is a state bank, without any circulation. Its liabilities to its depositors will amount to about $1,000,000, all of which, Mr. Roberts thinks, will be paid in full.

Upton is about 50 years of age. His reputation has always been good. Among other positions of trust he holds the office of treasurer of the Protestant Episcopal diocese of New York. He has represented that all his property was in his own name. To-day a deed was filed purporting to be dated April 20, 1882, in which he conveyed to his wife property valued at $50,000. The indignation among the stockholders and depositors is great. Upon refusals to be interviewed, and Cashier Barnard, though in the city, can not be found. No one seems to know anything about the books of the bank. It is impossible to ascertain the names of the heavy creditors. Among the heaviest yet learned are the East-Side Savings bank, $14,000; Monroe County Savings bank, $50,000, and Monroe county treasurer about $22,000. It is probable that Upton will be arrested in a few days.

Upton is a fast liver, and was a member of the Rochester club, the Rochester Driving-Park association, the Rochester Gentlemen's Driving club one of the backers of the Rochester Base-Ball club in 1878 and 1879, and held the stakes in the famous Chautauqua rowing fizzle wherein Courtney's boat was sawed and the contest had to be repeated in Washington to decide who owned the $6,000 prize. Another bit of Upton's history not generally known will be of interest in connection with the failure. Last winter he was one of the several Rochester bankers to form and enter a syndicate to bull Hannibal & St. Joe railroad stock and realize handsomely by heavy speculation.

FURIOUS FLAMES.

Goldsmith's Hall at Philadelphia Completely Gutted by Fire.

The Postoffice and Several Other Buildings at One Time Threatened with Destruction.

The Conflagration Checked By the Firemen After a Short and Desperate Fight---Loss $200,000.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 21.—Lofty, blackened walls, flame-scarred and gaunt, making great heaps of debris within their confines, are all that is left of the six-storied Goldsmith's hall, on Library street, below Fifth, destroyed by fire last evening. Heaps of bricks blockade a side court leading from Library street and an entangling mesh of telegraph and telephone wires gird Library street, and ensnare the feet of horses and pedestrians, while the fragments of charred signs and cornices show the ruin the flames have made. Adjacent buildings, with blackened cornices and partly-burned roofs, indicate further the narrow escape they have made. Two hundred thousand dollars would probably cover the loss that was mainly inflicted in half an hour's time. Old firemen who were exposed to the great heat said they had experienced few such torrid scenes. At one time the flames were so fierce and the wind so strong that apprehensions were felt for the postoffice building, the old Philadelphia library (now occupied by the Central News company and adjoining the postoffice at the northwest corner of Fifth and Library streets), and for the American Bank Note company's headquarters in the Mercantile library building, at the southeast corner of Library street; the venerable Philadelphia dispensary next door below on Fifth street, and valuable property occupied by insurance companies on Walnut street. It was nip and tuck between the firemen and the flames, with the odds decidedly favoring the destroyer for a long time. Goldsmith hall was put up in 1854, and was six stories in height, with a frontage of fifty-seven feet on Library street, and a depth of one hundred feet, but had a wing subsequently attached in the rear five stories in height and about twenty-four feet square. The Library street front was brown stone. As far as it was possible to make such a structure, it was designed to be fire-proof throughout. Jacob Haehlen was the owner, and erected the building. At a calculation based on the enhanced value of the property since it was put up, it was worth $100,000. E. G. Haehlen & Co., dealers in chamois skins, parchments, artists' materials, etc., occupied the whole basement, and had about $15,000 worth of stock. One consignment of chamois skins worth $2,000 had just been opened. The building was numbered 418, 420, and 422. J. W. Hampton, Jr., & Co., custom house brokers, had the first floor of No. 418. A hallway led back to a row of offices occupied by O. F. Johnson, attorney-at-law, a broker named Wainwright, who had just moved, and a few others whose names could not be learned. Alex. Murphy & Co., custom-house brokers, had the first story of No. 420. Lohman & Bolton, printers of labels and general lithographers, occupied the second, third, and fourth floors. E. C. Markley & Son, printers, also have contracts to do work for the council and public departments, had an office on the fifth and sixth floors, over all. A. C. Farley, manufacturer of blank books, paper tablets, envelopes, and other stationery specialties, was the lessee of the five-story building in the rear.

The fire started just before 7 o'clock in the back wing, occupied by Mr. Farley. Some of the operatives had narrow escapes, so quick was the spreading of the flames. While the conflagration was at its height, and threatened to extend across Library street to the postoffice, the clerks and carriers began the removal of records and mail matter to the front of the building. Some of the janitors of Walnut street buildings also became alarmed, and packed up household goods and piled them in the entryways ready for flight in case the flames came their way.

Jacob Haehlen's loss on the main and rear buildings is estimated at $130,000 on which he has an insurance of $50,000. Lehman & Bolton are probably the heaviest losers of any of the tenants, their loss being about $75,000, which is said to be nearly covered by insurance. E. C. Markley & Son's loss is from $40,000 to $45,000, on which there is an insurance of $30,000. The loss of A. E. Farley & Co. is estimated at about $40,000 on which there is an insurance of $20,000, while E. G. Haehlen's loss is about $15,000, covered by insurance. Lehman & Bolton a few weeks ago put in a new press at a cost of $17,000. Markley & Son, who have the contract for printing the sheriff's posters, had been engaged during the day in preparing them for distribution, and had a large number on hand. In the hurry a few were removed to the Central station, but the larger part of them was destroyed. This loss will probably cause many of the sheriff's sales to be postponed for some time. Great care was necessary to guard against the showers of sparks at the northeast corner of Fifth and Walnut streets. The awning in front of Joseph Schlitz' saloon was in a blaze, but one of the men employed there succeeded in putting out the flames.

WHIPSAWED ON THE DEAL.

The Commission Firm of Randall, Bell & Co. Suspended---Liabilities $50,000.

CHICAGO, Dec. 21.

The 4 per cent rally in corn which has taken place since Monday caused the suspension yesterday of the firm of Randall, Bell & Co., a grain commission firm having its office in the chamber of commerce building. The concern was bullish on the market all through the recent decline of corn. The house at the lowest figures got its customers and itself on the wrong side again. The result was the firm was whipsawed—lost both ways. The liabilities are believed to be large—not less than $50,000. No statement is, however, offered by any member of the bursted concern.

The failure according to Mr. Randall, is a case of too much country custom. There is a possibility, so says the senior partner, of an immediate resumption, if certain of the customers who are behind will perform their promises.

HANDITS TAKE A TOWN.

A Party of Mexican Outlaws Capture a City and Its Officials.

MATAMORAS, Mex., Dec. 21.—A band of forty brigands made a sudden attack upon the town of Ahuacatlan, Pueblo, yesterday, and by the display of fire-arms, overawed the inhabitants, who fled terror-stricken to their homes. Finally they seized and bound the mayor, justice and aldermen, and carried them away as captives, intending to hold them for a large ransom.

NEW PUBLICATIONS.

MACAULAY.

The last volume of the English Men of Letters, published by the Harpers, is the life of Lord Macaulay, by J. Carter Morison. It is uniform in size, with the other volumes of this series, and contains an excellent sketch of the life of the great statesman. There is a good deal in this book which will be new to the general reader, and to those even who have read the larger lives of Macaulay.

For sale by Jansen, McClurg & Co., Chicago, and by the Janesville local trade.

MILDRED'S BARGAIN.

This little volume, under the title of "Mildred's Bargain and other Stories," was written by Lucy C. Lillie, the well known author of "Prudence." It is designed for small children, and the stories are simple in style, and short. The book is illustrated, and will prove interesting to young people.

For sale by Jansen, McClurg & Co., Chicago, and by the Janesville local trade.

Magic in the Nineteenth Century.

N. McRea, Wyebridge, Ontario, writes: "I have sold large quantities of Dr. THOMAS' OIL: it is used for colds, sore throat, croup, etc., and in fact, for any affection of the throat it works like magic. It is a sure cure for burns, wounds and bruises."

Interesting Developments Concerning Both Mrs. Langtry and Her Irate Ex-Chaperone.

The Former, in Company with Fred Febhardt, Followed Around by a Philadelphia Crowd.

The Latter Suing for a Divorce from Her Legal Husband, Mr. Pigeon, at Richmond, Va.

LABOUCHERE.

RICHMOND, Va., Dec. 21.—Suit has been entered in the chancery court at Richmond by Mrs. Henrietta Pigeon who sues by her next friend, C. J. Carrington, for a divorce from her husband, Richard Pigeon. Mrs. Pigeon alleges that she was married to Richard Pigeon July 2, 1864, in St. George's church, Hanover sqare, London. Shortly after they came to the United States and lived in various parts of this country. More than five years ago her husband deserted her and their child, a son, the issue of the marriage, and has not contributed to their support since that time. It is rumored that Mrs. Pigeon is none other than Mrs. Labouchere, the former companion of Mrs. Langtry, the "Jersey Lily." Whether the reports are true or not, this much is known: that Mrs. Labouchere, before her marriage to her present husband, was a Mrs. Pigeon. While Mrs. Labouchere was in Washington a few days ago one of the two gentlemen who were traveling with her was interviewed by representatives of one of the newspapers of that city. In reply to a question concerning the rumor that Mr. and Mrs. Labouchere were not properly married, he replied, "that they were man and wife as much as church and law could make them." Counsel for Mrs. Pigeon are Dunning, Edsall, Hart & Fowler, of New York, and Carrington, Davis & Hooper, of his city. One of the counsel here, was interviewed yesterday as to the report that Mrs. Pigeon was Mrs. Labouchere. Counsel said that Mrs. Pigeon arrival in Richmond on the night of December 4, accompanied by a maid, Mr. Fowler of New York, one of her counsel and young Mr. Dunning, a son of Mr. Dunning, of the New York law firm. She remained in the city until the 6th, when she left for Washington. This corresponds with the time of the arrival and departure of the Labouchere party, which consisted of the same number of persons, male and female. The lady in question is represented as being very handsome and fine-looking, of stout figure, and apparently about 45 years old. Her maiden name was Henrietta Hudson. As to her present whereabouts he could not say, but at the time the suit was brought she claimed to be a resident of this city. The case will come up for trial at the February term of the chancery court.

Those who have investigated the Pigeon divorce feel perfectly confident that the plaintiff in that case and Mrs. Labouchere, Mrs. Langtry's chaperone, are the same person. It is claimed that the evidence of this is indisputable.

LANGTRY.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 21.—Mrs. Langtry had a very lovely time of it yesterday. Fred Gebhardt took a solitary breakfast in the cafe of the Bellevue hotel, and about noon sauntered into the parlor, where the Jersey Lily bloomed for his special benefit. Then the Lily robed herself in a sealskin dolman, and the couple sailed out to Broad and then to Chestnut. The Lily was recognized, and in an instant a crowd gathered. The sidewalk was blocked and the small boys trudged along the middle of the street. To escape the crowd Freddy and the Lily turned into Wanamaker's, at Thirteenth and Chestnut. The crowd followed and they were let out of a side entrance. They gained Chestnut street again and entered Bailey's jewelery store. The crowd swarmed in so densely that they could make no purchases. Mrs. Langtry did not seem to mind the gaping staring faces, but Mr. Gebhardt looked very foolish. They kept on down Chestnut to Ninth, and entered Caldwell's jewelry store. The crowd as usual, swarmed in and stopped all business. The Lily was taken out the back way, and, taking a Walnut street car rode back to the hotel.

Yesterday afternoon she drove through the park with Gebhardt. Freddy did not go to the theatre last night, but was captured by some club men. Mrs. Langtry played Rosalind. She was very coldly received, and the company was, without exception the worst that ever appeared on a stage in the city. Many people went away disgusted.

COMMITTEE WORK.

Tobacco, Coal and Pens---The Recess, Levee Work and Claims.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—The senate finance committee discussed the tobacco tax question yesterday, and is reported to have decided to recommend the adoption of a resolution favoring the payment of a rebate on tobacco if the tax is reduced. Probably a resolution of this kind will be introduced in the senate, and it is hoped to get it through the senate and the house before the holiday adjournment.

The senate appropriations committee has decided to recommend the adoption of the house resolution providing a recess from Dec. 22 to Jan. 2.

The ways and means committee fixed the rate on metallic pens at 12 cents per gross, and reduced the duty on pen tips from 40 to 30 cents ad valorem.

The sub-committee on elections decided to report in favor of admitting Caine as the delegate from Utah.

The special committee on Mississippi river improvement examined Engineer Richardson, of Louisiana, and in the course of his testimony it was shown that he was engaged last year in constructing levees for the purpose of protecting private lands while the commission was at work building the same kind of levees on some sections of the river to deepen the stream.

The senate committee on claims voted to report back for passage, without amendment, the Bowman bill, passed by the house at the last session, to refer certain claims against the government to the court of claims.

Maryland and West Virginia senators appeared before the finance committee of the senate in opposition to a reduction of duty on bituminous coal.

WATERED WHISKY.

Judicial Decision in Favor of the Diluted Article.

NEW YORK, Dec. 21.—In the action of the government against three packages of distilled spirits which had been originally properly stamped, but afterward, when part had been drawn off and water added to, the packages were seized by the government as not of proof indicated by the stamp, Judge Brown held that "the mere addition of water is not a fraud. The suggestion that the stamp must correspond with proof spirits as a means of identification is argumentative only, and is not warranted by law." Judgment given for defendant.

THE PRICE OF BEER.

It is Raised One Dollar Per Barrel by the Brewers.

CHICAGO, Dec. 21.

The Western Brewers' association began the first day's session of their convention in room 45 Tremont house, at noon yesterday, about forty gentlemen being present, representing the brewing interests of Chicago, St. Louis, Milwaukee, Toledo, Louisville, Evansville, Detroit, Cincinnati and Indianapolis were not represented.

When the delegates had assembled it was moved that Mr. John H. McAvoy be chosen chairman, and Mr. Andrew E. Leicht secretary of the convention, which was adopted. Mr. McAvoy said that the object of their assembly was for the purpose of ascertaining the views of the several brewers in the various cities relative to an advance in the price of beer per barrel. The recent advance in the raw material required in its manufacture made it necessary for the brewers to take some action in the matter of advance. Letters from brewers at Rochester, New York and other cities were read saying they would abide by the action of the convention. A discussion arose as to the price per barrel at which it should be advanced, and upon a vote being taken it was agreed that a uniform increase of one dollar per barrel be made.

THERESA STURLA.

Philanthropic Ladies to Aid Her in Fitting Herself for the Concert Stage.

CHICAGO, Dec. 21.

There are four or five eminently respectable ladies of Chicago who feel quite as bad over the conviction of Theresa Sturla and her sentence to one year's confinement in the penitentiary as does the fair prisoner herself. They became interested in her on learning the facts in regard to her unhappy life, and this feeling has grown on acquaintance to one of real affection. They found her gentle and impulsive, and possessed of an inclination toward good. By steadfast friendship, kind treatment, and promises of assistance, they won her confidence, and by degrees her warmest love. She has great natural musical talent, both vocal and instrumental, and it was through the girl's pride in her attainments, as much as anything else, perhaps, that the ladies obtained their influence over her. They held out the splendors of a successful musical career to her as an inducement to abandon the life she has led, and promised that if she would devote herself to the cultivation of her talent they would assist her financially and socially. Her acceptance of the offer was an eager one, and during the trying times of the last few weeks she has been buoyed up by the hope of better days and better things. True to their promise, one or more of the ladies interested in the girl have been with her every day in court and cheerfully submitted to several severe oratorical rakings from the state's attorney. Whether all this sympathy will prove to have been misdirected remains to be seen, but not one of the missionaries will admit that she has a doubt of Theresa Sturla's complete reformation.

Mr. A. S. Trude, her attorney, who has labored for her most industriously, without hope of reward, and who shed genuine tears when she was repeating the story of her wrongs in court, is also enthusiastic in his predictions concerning her future. He pronounces her one of the most gifted musicians that he has ever met, and says that to-day she could captivate the public on the concert stage. She is in very delicate health, the result it is claimed, of a kick in the side administered by Charles Stiles, the man whom she killed. In conversation with many prominent ladies and gentlemen who called on her, she spoke of her prospective imprisonment cheerfully, and was inclined to think that she might be the better for it. To all she stated unequivocally that as soon as she was liberated she intended to go to the home of Mrs. W. P. Black of this city, and prepare for a musical career. Mrs. Black, who is the wife of a well-known lawyer of Chicago, is celebrated for her philanthropy, and her husband has long been an effective worker in the Young Men's Christian association.

It is thought that the verdict of the jury will be permitted to stand. The defense has no money to pursue the matter further, and the motion for a new trial will probably be overruled. Theresa, too, is said to regard a year's imprisonment with less concern than another long and troublesome trial. This being the case, as it now stands, the girl will probably be immured within the walls of Joliet penitentiary before many days, and the public will hear no more of her until, some years hence, in some new musical prodigy, it may recognize an artist whose past is as sad as her future may be bright.

PETROLEUM.

The Market Depressed by the News of the Rochester Bank Failure.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Dec. 21.—When the gong sounded for the commencement of business at the oil exchange yesterday morning, the first sales were made at 80 cents, a drop of 4½ cents from the closing price of the evening before. Immediately there was a rush among weak holders, who dumped a great deal of oil upon the market. This had the effect of forcing the market down to 77½ cents, when there was a pause, with a partial restoration of confidence when the strong men began to buy. Under the influence of heavy purchases the market became firmer and advanced to 82¼, but just when the bulls commenced feeling good the report was received that the City bank of Rochester, N. Y., which had been carrying a great deal of oil, had failed. Another panic ensued, and the downward course continued until the close, when 78¾ cents was bid. The afternoon session opened at 80 cents, advanced to 81¼ cents, and then fell back to 79¾ cents, as a result of reports of one or two "lay-downs" at Oil City. About the only definite report from the Reno "gusher" was received at noon, placing its production at 1,300 barrels per day, a big falling off from Tuesday's estimates. During the afternoon the market hovered about 79 cents, the stubborn factions refusing to advance until about 3:30 o'clock. At this juncture a rumor was circulated that a published review of the Richburg oil-field would show a heavy decline in production. Influenced by this statement, and also reassured somewhat by the later reports that the Rochester bank did not have so much oil, after all, the market advanced buoyantly, and closed at 4 o'clock at 81¼ cents bid and 82 cents asked. The closing was pretty firm.

A Clever Swindle.

NEW YORK, Dec. 21.—A draft on the Manhattan bank of this city for $17.63, drawn by the National Bank of Commerce at Cleveland, was honored by the Manufacturers' and Traders' bank of Buffalo, for $5,679.48. It was drawn on sensitive paper, in favor of W. T. Watson, and was presented by a reputable depositor of the Buffalo bank bearing that name. Every feature of the forgery, even to the bank number, was perfect.

Ready for Glory.

DUBLIN, Dec. 21.—Michael Flynn, the last of the three men arraigned for the murder of the two Huddys at Lough Mask, was convicted and sentenced to be hanged Jan. 17. After Flynn received his sentence he said to the judge: "Thank you, sir. I am as willing to go there," looking upward, "as to go home. I wish you all good day."

Gen. Curtis Released.

NEW YORK, Dec. 21.—General Curtis, has paid a fine of $1,000 for collecting political assessments, and was discharged from custody.

Mrs. Wackerle Again.

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 21.—Mrs. Walburga Wackerle, whose recent suit in the United States circuit court against the Mutual Life Insurance company, New York, attracted considerable attention throughout the country, has commenced a $10,000 damage suit against the Ætna Life Insurance company and J. C. Webster, agent of the company. She alleges that the insurance company, for the purpose of defrauding her out of money due on her husband's policy, conspired with certain persons to induce another man to personate her husband. The case promises some interesting developments.

CONGRESS.

The House Passes the Postal Bill with the Cheap-Postage Clause.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—Yesterday in the senate Mr. Hoar said he had seen statements in the public prints that the committee had recommended a provision in the bankruptcy bill to the effect that dealing in futures should be in itself an act of bankruptcy. This, he said, is a mistake. The provision applies only to persons who are actually insolvent.

Mr. Hale reported a resolution for a holiday recess, but Mr. Conger objected to its present consideration. Mr. Hale gave notice that he would call it up to-day.

Mr. Miller presented petitions for a post-office building at San Francisco.

Mr. Saunders introduced a bill by request for the admission of Utah as a state.

The consular bill, after a brief debate, was passed, and consideration of the civil service bill was resumed.

After a lengthy and interesting debate, a motion to go into executive session was agreed to, but before the doors were closed Mr. Hoar introduced a joint resolution (which was referred) authorizing the president to negotiate with the civilized powers for an international system whereby matters in dispute between the different governments agreeing thereto may be adjusted by arbitration, if possible, without recourse to war.

The senate after an executive session adjourned.

HOUSE.

Mr. Brown's motion to reconsider the vote postponing the bill permitting retired army officers to hold civil offices in territories, prevailed, and the motion to postpone was withdrawn.

Mr. Townshend offered an amendment that when a retired officer accepted territorial office his retired pay be covered into the treasury. A lively debate ensued.

Mr. Reagan opposed the bill as tending to build up a monied aristocracy. The amendment was lost and the bill passed.

The house, then in committee of the whole, resumed consideration of the postoffice appropriation bill.

The committee, after a lengthy discussion, rose and reported the bill to the house. The bill then passed—yeas, 163; nays, 21.

Mr. Butterworth, of Ohio, gave notice that he would ask for the consideration of the army appropriation bill to-day.

Mr. Lynch, of Mississippi, offered a resolution making it in order to offer an amendment to the pension appropriation bill extending the provisions of the act, placing enlisted colored persons on the same footing as other soldiers as to pensions and bounty to the heirs of such persons. Referred.

Fifteen leaves of absence were granted and the house adjourned.

ROUGH WEATHER.

Disabled and Abandoned Steamers.

NEW YORK, Dec. 21.—The steamship City of Berlin, of the Inman line, from Liverpool, arrived at Sandy Hook yesterday, at an early hour, in tow of the City of Chester, of the same line. The Berlin was disabled by the loss of her rudder-post while on her voyage from this port to Liverpool. The Chester left here on the 9th inst. From an officer on board of the City of Berlin, which steamer was docked this afternoon, it was learned that the City of Chester had fallen in with the City of Berlin last Thursday, the 12th inst. She had been disabled then about two days, having carried away her rudder-post, and was unmanageable, but under a small head of steam against a drag towing from her stern—in fact, hove to. The weather was moderate, and the Chester laid by the Berlin all night, and in the morning towing hawsers were made fast to the Berlin, and the two vessels proceeded to the westward, the derelict steamer, the Chester, towing the Berlin, which steamer operated as a "governor," being manageable against the towing force exerted by the City of Chester. Only two days of very rough weather was met with, both vessels arriving in the harbor yesterday. The disabled steamer was left at the quarantine anchorage and will be taken to the Erie basin docks for examination and repairs.

LONDON, Dec. 21.—The British steamer Regent, from Cardiff for New Orleans, has been abandoned in a sinking condition, having lost her rudder and stern post, and the cargo shifted. The captain and crew, numbering twenty-eight, and six stowaways, were landed at Falmouth. The British steamer Straits of Dover, from Norfolk for Liverpool, is ashore off Crosby light.

PERISHED IN THE FLAMES.

Destruction of a Hotel at Pembroke, Canada---Three Lives Lost and Others Missing.

PEMBROKE, Canada, Dec. 21.—The Copeland hotel and adjoining block burned yesterday. The guests at the hotel escaped with much difficulty, and some narrow escapes are reported. Total loss estimated at $100,000, divided among J. Copeland, T. & W. Murray, Edward Behan, V. C. Harron, R. B. Gray, E. Martin & Co. and Frank Thompson. It is feared a number of people perished in the hotel, as several servants and two strangers are missing. The police and firemen are hunting for the bodies in the ruins. It is now known that two French boys, servants at the hotel, perished, and James Cameron, agent for J. R. Booth, of Ottawa, was burned to a crisp.

A Chinaman and His Bride.

PITTSBURG, Dec. 21.—Yee Ot, who made a fortune in the laundry business at Allegheny City, has returned to China to marry his cousin. The matter has caused a vast amount of talk. Secretary Folger was appealed to, and decided that under the last law the bride cannot be brought here.

TUTT'S EXPECTORANT
Is composed of Herbal and Mucilaginous products, which permeate the substance of the Lungs, expectorates the acrid matter that collects in the Bronchial Tubes, and forms a soothing coating, which relieves the irritation that causes the cough. It cleanses the lungs of all impurities, strengthens them when enfeebled by disease, invigorates the circulation of the blood, and braces the nervous system. Slight colds often end in consumption. It is dangerous to neglect them. Apply the remedy promptly. A test of twenty years warrants the assertion that no remedy has ever been found that is as prompt in its effects as TUTT'S EXPECTORANT. A single dose raises the phlegm, subdues inflammation, and its use speedily cures the most obstinate cough. A pleasant cordial, children take it readily. For Croup it is invaluable and should be in every family.
In 25c. and $1 Bottles.

TUTT'S PILLS
ACT DIRECTLY ON THE LIVER.
Cures Chills and Fever, Dyspepsia, Sick Headache, Bilious Colic, Constipation, Rheumatism, Piles, Palpitation of the Heart, Dizziness, Torpid Liver, and Female Irregularities. If you do not "feel very well," a single pill stimulates the stomach, restores the appetite, imparts vigor to the system.
A NOTED DIVINE SAYS:
DR. TUTT:—Dear Sir: For ten years I have been a martyr to Dyspepsia, Constipation and Piles. Last spring your pills were recommended to me; I used them (but with little faith). I am now a well man, have good appetite, digestion perfect, regular stools, piles gone, and I have gained forty pounds solid flesh. They are worth their weight in gold.

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE. WHEREAS, R. J. Richardson and (Franc S. Richardson, then his wife, but now deceased) of the city of Janesville, Rock county, Wisconsin, mortgagors duly executed and delivered to Mrs. Kate E. Sumner, mortgagee, a mortgage bearing date the first day of May, A. D. 1877, which said mortgage was duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds, of the county of Rock, in the state of Wisconsin, on the 21st day of May, A. D. 1877, at thirty minutes past one o'clock in the afternoon, in volume 83 of mortgages, on page 442 and on which mortgage there is claimed to be and is due and unpaid at the date hereof, the sum of five thousand ($5,000.00) dollars, and interest thereon payable annually, on July first, of each and every year, from the said first day of May, A. D. 1877, at the rate of eight per cent. per annum, except the interest which has been paid in full on said mortgage, to the first day of July, A. D. 1879, and less the sum of one thousand dollars ($1,000.00) paid March 28th, A. D. 1880, and the further sum of five hundred seventy-four dollars and forty-six cents, paid November 19th, 1880, leaving a balance now due of the sum of four thousand five hundred and seventy six dollars and sixty-one cents ($4,576.61), and in which the mortgaged premises are described substantially as follows:

All right, title and interest of said parties of the first part (mortgagors) in and to lots number three (3) and four (4) in block number forty (40) in the village (now city) of Janesville, according to the recorded plat thereof; also a strip of land thirty-three (33) feet in width front and rear lying south of and adjoining said block No. forty (40), together with four hundred (400) square inch of water, and the machinery connected therewith, now used by the Doty Manufacturing company upon the premises above described, lying and being in Rock county, Wisconsin.

And WHEREAS, default has been made in the payment of the debt secured by said mortgage, according to the conditions thereof, and no action has been commenced to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that in pursuance of the statute of the state of Wisconsin, in such case made and provided, and by virtue of the power of sale contained in the said mortgage, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the said mortgaged premises above described, or so much thereof, as may be sufficient to raise the sum of money necessary to satisfy the amount due on said mortgage, at the date of this notice of sale, with interest, and the costs and expenses allowed by law, at public auction, to the highest bidder.

On the 8th day of January, A. D., 1883, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon of that day, at the front door of the post office, in the city of Janesville, in said county of Rock, and state of Wisconsin, by the sheriff, under-sheriff, or deputy sheriff of the county of Rock, aforesaid.—Dated November 25th, A. Building Cisterns.

The present time is the best for building a cistern, because the fall rains are equal in quantity to more than half the whole of the rainfall of the year, and the cistern will be filled very soon for the winter's supply, and the spring rains will supply it for the summer. There are some preliminary things to be thought of before one begins to build. First, the location should be on high ground, and, if possible, at a point where the level falls away in each direction, so that surface water will drain away and not enter to spoil the cistern water. Usually one builds the barn on such a spot, so that a convenient place near the barn or under a shed close by, or under the floor of the barn, would serve very well for the place of the cistern. Second, the shape of the cistern is of much account, both as to economy of building it, and its capacity when finished. Again, the strength of it depends greatly upon the shape, for a round cistern is a continuous arch, and will resist the pressure of the earth outside, much better than a square one. A round cistern, too, will hold more water than a square one for the length of wall in it. The following table gives the area and length of wall of the common sizes of cisterns, by which one can easily see how much more economical the round cistern is than the square one.

SQUARE CISTERNS.

Eight feet square, sixty-four feet area, thirty-two feet of wall; ten feet square, one hundred feet area, forty-nine feet of wall; twelve feet square, one hundred and forty-four feet area, forty-eight feet of wall.

ROUND CISTERNS.

Eight feet diameter, fifty feet area, twenty-four feet of wall; ten feet diameter, seventy-eight feet area, thirty-one feet of wall; twelve feet diameter, one hundred and thirteen feet area, thirty-seven feet of wall; fourteen feet diameter, one hundred and fifty-three feet area, forty three feet of wall; fifteen feet diameter, one hundred and seventy-eight feet area, forty-six feet of wall.

It has been seen that a ten-foot round cistern has less wall than an eight-foot square one, and has fourteen square feet more surface. A furteen-foot round cistern has only three feet more wall than a ten-foot square one, which is less than eight per cent. more wall, while it has fifty-three square feet, or more than fifty per cent. more area, and consequently holds one-half more water for one-twelfth more expanse of wall. Besides this, the extra strength should be considered.

In estimating the cost of a cistern the following details will be useful: A brick is eight inches long, four inches in diameand two and a half thick. When laid flat and lengthwise it will make a wall four inches thick, and as each brick has twenty square inches of surface, seven will make a square foot of wall. A brick laid upon its edge makes a two and a half inch wall, and has thirty-two square inches of surface, so that four and a half would make a square foot of wall. A sixteen-foot round cistern twelve feet deep will have 372 square feet of wall, and will require about 2,000 brick for a four-inch wall, which is quite strong enough in loose and sandy soil. In solid gravelly soil a two and a half-inch wall is strong enough, and for a ten-foot cistern about 1,700 bricks will be required. In good solid clay or hard-pan soil no bricks will be required, as the cement may be laid directly upon the clay. In building the wall it should be well plastered on the back as it goes up, and when one foot of wall is built the soil should be carefully rammed behind the wall to give it a secure support against the pressure of the water inside. This is very important, and if it is not done the cistern will be almost sure to break and let the water out. The quantity of cement to be used, of course, depends upon the brick used. The cement may either be the imported Portland, which is very dear, or the American, which is about one-third the cost of the former, and is equally as good in every respect but one, which is that it requires more time to set. This, however, is really an advantage, as it is not requisite when using this cement to be so particular about doing the work with such rapidity as is often inconvenient. But when a cistern is made without a wall and the cement is laid directly upon the earth it will be better to have the quick-setting cement, because much better work can be done by having the cement harden and set as it is laid all round, one foot in height at a time, before the next foot is laid on. There is then no risk of the plaster giving way under the weight and settling down into a mass at the bottom.

The cement and sand should be well mixed together dry. A barrel of cement and one or two of good clean, rather coarse sharp sand are the right proportions. The sand is laid first on a board or floor and spread one inch thick, one inch of cement is then laid upon the sand and spread evenly, another inch of sand is then spread upon the cement. As it is very important to have the mixture very thoroughly made and no grain of sand in it that is not in contact with cement, for otherwise the water will filter through it, it is worth while to pass the sand and cement through a sieve a shovelful at a time, by which they are very evenly mixed. For good work we would spread the heap thus made and sift it over again. It is then ready for wetting. About a bushel of it is spread on the mixing-board and hollowed in the center, water is poured on and the heap is turned from outside to center until a thin mortar is made. This must be used at once, and it is setting while the next batch is mixing. A barrel of cement and two of sand will make enough mortar to lay six or seven bricks and plaster over the batch. Before the bricks are laid they should be well soaked in water or they will absorb the moisture from the cement and make bad work of it. When ready to begin work water should be thrown over the bricks until they will soak up no more. A brick will easily absorb a pint of water and yet appear dry. When the wall is laid up it is to be cemented. A brick wall will not retain the water, but if it has been well laid only a half-inch coat of mortar will be needed. First, the wall should be covered over with a thick wash of clear cement and water, by which the pores of the bricks are closed and a good foundation laid for the plaster to adhere to; sixty square feet of wall with two coats will require one barrel of clear cement, or if cement and sand are used in equal portions, a barrel of each will cover one hundred and twenty square feet. A mortar of this kind is good enough for the plastering if a thick wash coat af clear cement is laid on as a finish. This is laid on with a brush.

It is well to draw in the wall near the top by bringing the bricks in nearly half their width. Thus each round may be drawn in about three inches in diameter very safely. In doing this the space between the bricks at the back should be chinked with spawls of brick, and thoroughly well filled with mortar to make them quite safe. In the upper three feet the wall may be drawn in nearly four feet, which will make it much easier to set the cover. The cover should be well bedded in the mortar and brick, so that the ground may not work in and leave spaces for frost to enter.—N. Y. Times.

Death of Nathaniel B. Howard.

The death of this old, well known, and highly esteemed citizen occurred at his late residence in Magnolia, December 12, 1882. Mr. Howard was born in Oneida county, New York, June 11, 1806, and in June last had reached the ripe age of 76 years. He was united in marriage to Miss Mary Bouck, on the 6th of April, 1826. Happily they lived together for nearly 53 years, Mrs. H. passing on before him, March 8, 1879. For 22 years after his marriage he resided in New York, farming, boating and selling goods. He came to Wisconsin in 1848, and in the spring of 1849 removed with his family to Magnolia, where he has since resided. Here, farming and merchandise commanded his attention. He frequently occupied public positions assigned him by his fellow citizens, such as justice of the peace, town treasurer, chairman of the board of supervisors; and in all these town and county offices his duties were discharged with the utmost satisfaction. He was twice elected assemblyman from his district, once during the war, serving his constituents and the state faithfully, and in the interest of the truest national patriotism. He was a competent man of business, and his integrity was never called in question. He was a good neighbor and a genial friend. His was a kindly heart, and no suffering child of poverty ever appealed to him in vain. He is held in an affectionate rememberance by his family and by numerous friends.

The funeral was largely attended at the Congregational church in Magnolia, Dec. 14th. Mr. H. had been a life long Universalist, and by his request, his friend of more than thirty years standing, Rev. G. W. Lawrence, conducted the religious services, the topic of discourse having been thoughtfully selected by himself, many months before his departure. He rests in peace.

A Farmer Speaks.

Mr. Austin Jay, Copenhagen, Ont., says he was so afflicted with Liver complaint that he was obliged to give up work. The druggist at Alymer induced him to try ZOPESA with such good results that after using two bottles he was able to resume his work as usual. Says he got relief from the first dose, and is satisfied there is no better Liver remedy in existence. He gladly allows us to use his name. For sale by Prentice & Evenson

A GREAT FIND.

Ten Thousand Dollars Picked Up Among Garbage by a New York Scavenger.

NEW YORK, Dec. 21.—According to all reports John Cummings, late of Commissioner Coleman's street cleaning department, has acquired a Christmas present that brings to mind the stories of Dumas or the improbable tales of Eastern fiction. Mr. Cummings was until Saturday last employed at the foot of Seventy-ninth street, North river, as a trimmer. Cummings' duty was to trim the wheelbarrow loads before they left the scows, that none of the refuse would crumble off. On Saturday last he was engaged as usual in his duties, there being about thirty-five other laborers on the dump. Suddenly, it is said, while trimming off a load, he saw a crisp looking paper in the rubbish, and he carelessly struck it with his shovel. Several times he did this, but he finally stooped down and picked up the paper. Its peculiar softness and color led him to examine it more closely, and he read upon it, so it is alleged, a promise of the United States government to pay the sum of $10,000. He said that he would do no more work, as he had found $10,000, and meant to quit the business. He then stuck his shovel in the heap of refuse and left. He was very shy about talking, but admitted that he had found the bond and said that it was one that anybody would buy in the open market, not being registered. There are reasons for believing, however, that the bond found by Mr. Cummings was not for the large sum of $10,000. All government securities of that value are of the registered issues.

A Practical Joke Causes a Man to Murder His Brother.

SANDERSVILLE, Ga., Dec. 21.—A terrible and peculiar tragedy occurred here night before last. Dave Wilbur attempted to play a practical joke on his brother by frightening him. The latter was seized with a paroxysm of fear, and grasping a gun shot dead the joking brother. For several hours the people were greatly excited.

Returned to His Old Prison Home.

NEW YORK, Dec. 21.—Lewis Thompson, a mulatto, aged 81, who was the first prisoner ever sent to Sing Sing, was sent to the penitentiary again yesterday for six months, by Judge Welch, of the city hall police court, Brooklyn, for stealing a door mat. He has spent over forty years of his life in prisons.

Davitt.

LONDON, Dec. 21.—Davitt, speaking at Stalybridge said the land question had assumed a feverish phase. The English mind became excited in consequence of the renowed outrage and murders. Crime, he said, should be swept away, and whoever was responsible for it. To it was due the death of the Land league.

They Have Been Indicted.

LOUISVILLE, Dec. 21.—The grand jury returned indictments for fraud against David Ferguson, back-tax collector; Philip Hinkle, city auditor, and George W. Leoi, assistant chief of the fire department, and they were hold to answer. They will be impeached by he council.

Systematized Robbery.

NEW YORK, Dec. 21.—A hat house in this city which employs the labor of the Massachusetts penitentiary on contract has just discovered that for a long time it has been systematically robbed by collusion between convicts and junk-dealers.

Getting Used to It.

NEW YORK, Dec. 21.—Lewis Thompson, a Mulatto, 81 years of age, the first man ever committed to Sing Sing prison, has been sent back for six months for stealing a door-mat. Over forty years of his life have been passed behind grated windows.

Brieflets.

—A bunch of keys await an owner at the Gazette office.

—Mrs. S. R. Noon's recital at Cannon's hall this evening, should be well patronized.

—There was a gay and happy gathering at Prof. Severance's dancing school last evening.

—The employes of the Chicago & Northwestern railroad were paid off today.

—The Hon. Wm. A. Lawrence was able to attend to some business at his store today.

—Odd Fellows should remember the social party in their hall this evening, and turn out with their families, and enjoy a social evening.

—Mr. F. Champ, of Rockford, the stepfather of the late H. G. Roberts, is in the city, to-day, looking after the effects of the deceased.

—Mr. Will Hart, of St. Paul, son of our former townsman, H. M. Hart, the insurance man, is in the city to-day, visiting his many friends.

—The indications are that roast turkey will not be very plenty in this city for Christmas dinners. The market is almost destitute of that holiday luxury.

—The show windows of the sea-side oyster house, on Milwaukee street bridge, are tastefully decorated for the holiday trade, and attract considerable attention from passers-by.

—Mayor Croft and our municipal officers are receiving much praise from the public, for the summary manner in which they are enforcing law and order. Let the good work go on.

—This afternoon year oats was quoted at 40 cents at the commission rooms of Mr. A. L. Brown, in the Eldred block. The price was forced up by a little 'squeezing of the shorts."

—The tobacco growers of Janesville and vicinity are taking advantage of the weather by "taking down" their crops, this being the first chance they have had since it was put in the tobacco sheds.

—Christmas trees are beginning to make their appearance, and judging by the number, we are of the opinion that many homes in this city will be the scene of happy gatherings on Christmas day.

—The proprietors of "The Club" saloon on West Milwaukee street, having failed to obtain a license for their variety show, have wisely concluded, (as stated last evening) to abandon the project. It is well.

—Plenty of amusement in this city tomorrow evening. At the opera house the great play of Othello; at Cannon's hall, the tenth annual festival of Engine company No. 1, and the social party of the Guards in their armory.

—Christmas trade was very good in many of the stores in the city, to-day, considering the unpleasant weather. The holiday attractions drew many people in from the country notwithstanding the snow, rain and slush.

—Yesterday afternoon it was a bull-dog fight which created a ripple of excitement on West Milwaukee street, and to-day noon the same location was the scene of a little fun with an untamed raccoon, that had escaped from his fastenings.

—Amusements and refreshments at Lappin's hall, on Saturday evening, for the Sunday school of Christ church parish, will without doubt, be a delightful event to all concerned. Parents and children are requested to be at the hall at 4 o'clock promptly.

—At the junior exhibition of the class of '84, Beloit college, several orations were delivered, and in regard to one of them, the Free Press says: "The Character of Voltaire," was the subject of the distinguished oration by Frank D. Jackson, of Janesville, and was well presented.

—County Treasurer Miles is feeling very happy to-day, because he is receiving more money than he is paying out. Yesterday he received the entire state and county tax from the town of Lima amounting to $1,005.98, being the first to hand the tax in. To-day the town of Clinton responded with the total tax from that town, which was $1,884.01. He also received the sum of $2,216.67 from City Treasurer Hasolton, of this city, being the license money collected for the year 1882. This is the largest sum, by several hundred dollars, ever paid into the county from this source.

—There should be a crowded house to morrow night to hear Miln in Othello. It will be the appearence of a man of genius. It is said his face is as fine as Booth's but more expressive of the swift mental changes within, and satisfies one from the beginning as a noble and princely countenance. Of his voice Prof. Frasier, of the Chicago university, says in the Tribune of that city: "To a rich, flexible, and finely modulated voice, a perfectly distinct utterance, and as scholarly a pronunciation of the English as we have heard on the stage, Mr. Miln adds the charms of most unfailing grace of action."

—Hearing reports on the streets to-day concerning the critical condition of Mr. M. J. DeLent, who was so severely injured by being caught on a revolving shaft in the Doty works on the morning of December 6th, we visited the attending surgeon for the purpose of ascertaining the true condition of the sufferer. We were told that Mr. DeLent was getting along nicely, but the condition of his leg was such that it had become necessary to remove pieces of the fractured bone from the ankle, and that it would be necessary to remove other fragments of the bone from the same place. That there is scarcely any doubt but that his foot will be saved from amputation. He was severely injured, and the many friends of Mr. DeLent will be glad to learn that he is doing well at present.

—Mrs. Noon gave an excellent entertainment last night at Cannon's hall, but owing to a bad condition of the weather, the attendance was not as large as it otherwise would have been. Among those who had numbers on the programme were Miss Etta Pond, who sang a popular solo, the Geise brothers, in a clarionet duet, and Misses Jessie Fredericks, Jennie Geddes, Minnie Mackin, Birdie McDonald, Nellie Gateley, Gertie Hemming, Tessie Anderson, Frankie Leech, Ida Nichols, Blanche Hayward, Carrie Robbins, Gertie Slawson and Della McDonald. There will be another recital this evening, and those who desire to attend a pleasant and profitable entertainment, should be present.

—Romany Rye will be performed at Myers opera house on Monday evening of next week. The performance will be a good one, as it has met with decided success wherever it has been presented.

—"Jim" Sullivan, who was arrested yesterday, by Marshal Hogan, while drunk and disorderly, was before the municipal court this afternoon. He waived examination on the charge of resisting the marshal, and was sent back to the bastile to await trial. While in the court room this afternoon, Sullivan didn't seem to care what became of him. He was destitute of a coat, and when asked if he had such a garment, by the court, he replied that he had torn it up and had none. He has been at work near Johnstown the past season. He did not show any signs of ill-usage at the hands of the marshal, and there is no foundation for any such statements. He simply deserved ten-times worse treatment than he received.

—Last night ended the experimental test of the arc electric light in this city, and there will be no further illumination until after the holidays. It is a very difficult matter to obtain "pointers" as to the reason of shutting off the light just at this time by the local company here but it is already known that their contract was simply for an experimental test, which has been carried out. We understand that the "plant" and machine will be taken up, and that if another trial is to be made, the incandescent light will be tested, as it is generally considered that the arc light does not give the general satisfaction desired. It is whispered that some of our leading business houses will soon adopt the incandescent light and will procure machinery for that purpose, but this is only a "whisper," and must be taken for what it is worth. The Janesville electric light company, we understand, will do nothing more at present, unless a sufficient number of lights are taken to warrant them in incurring the expenses of putting in the necessary machinery. The light given last night was not very satisfactory, and many of those who had it in use are not slow to condem it as not suitable for interior illumination.

A Disastrous Fire in Beloit.

A fire broke out in the tobacco factory of J. H. Crohen, of Beloit, last night at half-past eleven o'clock, causing a loss to the establishment of $6,000 upon which there was an insurance of $3,000. The lower floor of the block (Brown's, nearly opposite the Goodwin house on State street) was occupied by the Taverse clothing house; this stock was damaged largely by water, and was insured for $4,000. H. J. Smith's book and jewelry dealer, also on the first floor, lost considerable, but his loss and insurance is not known. The loss on the building is estimated to be less than one thousand dollars. The origin of the fire is unknown, but is supposed to be from a defective flue.

A Thing of Beauty.

One of the finest pieces of cabinet workmanship ever done in this city, is a secretary and writing desk from the hands of Fred Kinney, son of Mr. J. H. Kinney, of this city. Since yesterday afternoon it has been in the store of Prentice & Evenson, where it has been much admired by many who have called to examine it. It is made of white holly and black walnut, the delicate scroll work being made of the former wood. It is more elaborate in this branch of the art of wood work than in any desk of the kind we have ever seen. It not only bears evidence of uncommon industry, care and patience, but it likewise displays rare mechanical skill. To fully appreciate the beauty of this desk, and the amount of labor bestowed upon it, one must give it an examination. The desk be sent to Rock Island as a present to Fred's aunt.

The programme for Mrs. S. R. Noon's recital in Cannon's hall this evening contains the following attractive numbers. Everything new. Tickets 10 cents:

1. Clarionet Selections.....Giese Brothers
2. Aunt Betsy's Beaus.....Six characters
3. Recitation—Betty and the Bear.....Birdie McDonald
4. Recitation—Little Joe...Miss Fannie Stewart
5. Matrimony.....Seven characters
6. Recitation—Brier Rose.....Miss Clara May
7. Song—solo.....Miss Etta Pond
8. Miss Blimmens Wedding.....Miss Frank Sheehan, Ida Leech

The Weather.

A Strong Argument.

In the December bulletin issued by the Western school of telegraphy, in this city, we find an appeal to young men, which can hardly fail to have the desired effect. After making a strong argument in favor of young men of learning trades some kind, the managers say:

There is a great deal of difference, however, in the value of different trades, and it is our honest belief that telegraphy is the best of all. Now that the cold weather has struck us, and it's too cold to husk corn, isn't it about time to pack your trunk and start for Janesville? It's a nice place to spend the winter, especially in our school rooms. Nice, large, warm rooms they are, with windows looking out over the city, where you can put in your time pleasantly and profitably this winter and come out in the spring with a trade that will stay by you through life, and we will put you to work at it, too. That's better than getting up in the morning before daylight and warming your fingers on the old cow's bag. Oh, we have been there and know all about it, boys. "It's years since last we met" the old cow, but "her memory lingers still." We have warmed our feet where the old cow had been lying down, too. It's a very good thing when the weather is below zero. And then we fondly remember how pleasant a pitchfork handle is to take hold of in the winter. All for ten dollars a month and board. It's all right if a fellow owns the farm, but laying all jokes aside, you don't intend to spend your life that way, do you? If not, then isn't it about time you learned a trade?

Many a young man who has lived on a farm, will readily both feel and see the force of this illustration, and not a few will start for the Western school of telegraphy. There is this much about it,—it is a good place for young men who have ambition to learn and want good positions.

DIED IN DELIRIUM.

The Shocking Story of the Life and Death of a Murderess.

Chicago, Dec. 21.

There died yesterday at the Home of Fallen Women in Des Moines a girl whose name is written in red letters in the criminal records of this city. Ida Sloan, alias "Gold Dust," was one of the sisterhood of pavement prowlers, and roomed with her partner in a disreputable lodging-house on State street, near Hubbard court. The name of the latter is forgotten; in fact, her real name was never known, as, like like all women of her class she assumed a fictitous one, thus shielding her family from whatever shame might attach to her. One night nearly two years ago she and Ida returned late from a debauch in one of the neighboring saloons, and climbed up-stairs to their apartments. One of the lodgers met them and noticed that Ida was deeply intoxicated, as she stumbled and made her way with the greatest difficulty. Once in bed, the girls quarreled, the source of the trouble being mutual jealousy as to the attentions of some disreputable admirer. The result of the squable was that Ida reached for the water pitcher, and with repeated blows fractured her friend's skull. The murderess, finding that she had quieted her companion, fell into a drunken stupor, and awoke at a late hour next morning to find that she had for a bed-fellow a ghastly corpse. Ida realized in a moment to the extent of her responsibility, and her nerve did not forsake her. She dressed and went to a neighboring saloon, where she obtained a half-pint of whisky. Having swallowed the stuff she returned to her room, dragged the half-naked corpse of her friend from the bed, and threw it into a clothes-closet. After securely locking the door and flinging the key away, she wandered out upon the street. All that day and until a late hour the next morning she tramped about the streets, drinking liquor wherever she could find it. She was found by an officer of the Harrison Street station, and was taken into the police court, which happened to be in session at that hour. Justice Wallace sentenced her to thirty days in the bridewell. A week passed, and one night two girls hired the deserted room in the State street lodging-house. The insufferable odor from the clothes closet attracted their attention, and they attempted vainly to open the door. The landlord and several others were called and the door was jerked open. The consternation of all present may be imagined when the hideous corpse of the dead girl, which had been braced against the door, tumbled forward. It was 4 o'clock in the morning, but the police were notified; the details of the ghastly discovery were printed in the morning papers, and the tragedy was the sensation of the day. The Sloan girl was brought back from the bridewell and was held to the criminal court. She escaped punishment, as she was clearly out of her senses when the crime was committed. She went to Denver where she lead a wild and reckless life, and became involved in trouble. Nothing more was heard of her until the news came yesterday that she had died in Des Moines in the horrors of delirium tremens.

REAL ESTATE COLUMN.

H. H. BLANCHARD,
HAS
REAL ESTATE FOR SALE.
REAL ESTATE TO EXCHANGE

If you wish to buy, sell, rent, exchange make, or obtain loans upon, or acquire any information relative to real estate, call on, or communicate with H. H. Blanchard. He has resided in Janesville for ten years past; is well known throughout a wide extent of country; deals extensively in real estate in all its branches,—and always on the square. His real estate list is large, and contains a great number of choice large and small Rock county farms, a great number of city residences, lots and business places, and several fine city residences with rom 1 to 8 acres of good tobacco land; also, two timber lots in Rock county. Prices on residences ranging from $500 to $5,000.

If you wish to purchase wild or improved lands in the west, call on him. In short, if you want anything in the real estate line, consult your best interests and call on him. If you deal with him, you will get the best prices, best terms, and best titles. Every title guaranteed to be perfect. As a special inducement he offers a reduction of $1,000 on the price of a 300-acre Rock county farm on his list, if purchased before January 1, 1883. This is no lottery but a sure thing, and an actual bona fida reduction of $1,000 from price heretofore asked. Time is money.
